Key findings of the survey:

- Majority of the women are aware of climate change by realizing increase in temperature and change in rainfall pattern.
- Most women acknowledge the negative effects of climate change on agriculture, food production, and biodiversity in their area.
- However, they lack guidance to deal with climate change at the individual level and ways to combat it

To respond to this need, a workshop was organized in Sri Sri University for these women leaders to empower them to create awareness about climate change in their communities and train them about the methods to combat it.

Women are important change agents in the efforts for #climateaction and we will continue to do these awareness and education initiatives to build a large pool of climate champions.
